A NOTE FROM MARK

EXPERIENCE MEETS IMAGINATION

Creativity has always been part of my approach to hospitality — whether developing a restaurant, improving a guest experience, creating a new product or simply finding a better way of doing something.

Today, I'm taking what I've learned over a lifetime in hospitality and looking at it through a different lens — sharing ideas, helping others, creating new concepts and exploring what's possible.

One of those ideas became The Hotel Mojo, my concept for a different kind of country music hotel.

Another unexpectedly brought me back to something I've always loved — music.

Experience gave me the knowledge.
Curiosity keeps me moving.
Creativity keeps me creating.
There's joy in serving others.

And I still believe some of the best ideas begin with one simple question:

What if? Welcome to my world.

1,000 Miles From Somewhere

The Journey Came First.
The Soundtrack Is Catching Up.

Life has a way of taking you down roads you never expected — through hospitality, across cultures, and into stories that still find their way into my music.

These songs are more than melodies. They're snapshots of experience, people, places, and the lessons learned along the way.

1,000 Miles From Somewhere

I am Not Johnny Cash, Hank Williams, 1, 2, 3, nor Plato or Socrates,

I am Who I am.

SOME IDEAS ARE WORTH THE JOURNEY.
THE ROAD HAS BEEN LONG.
THE VISION IS CLEAR.
AND THE FIRE STILL BURNS.
THE HOTEL MOJO MAY BE WAITING
SOMEWHERE DOWN THE TRACKS.
MAYBE THE NEXT PART OF THE JOURNEY
ISN'T MEANT TO BE TRAVELED ALONE.
